AIK vs. F&F Belt Certification (Senior Black Belts Only):

Black Belt represents many different things for many different people. For some it is time in grade and continued study. For others it is a technical knowledge of the information being presented. For some it is simply a greatly elevated fighting capability. We offer two levels of Black Belt certification to adults. The first is a general F&F certification that can be achieved by completing all the general requirements just listed, and is primarily representational of time in training. The AIK certification is more specialized and is given to those that can meet all the listed requirements in addition to providing technical proficiency in all the techniques listed here for their rank. In addition, the active rotation should be flawless.

AIK Certification Requirements

1st Degree	All Beginner, Intermediate, and Advanced Techniques
1st to 2nd Degree	All Techniques, All Sets and Forms Required of Ranks Below Black Belt
2nd to 3rd Degree	All Techniques, All EPAKS Sets and Forms Required of Below 3rd Black Belt
3rd to 4th Degree	All Techniques, All EPAKS Sets and Forms Required of Below 4rd Black Belt
4th to 5th Degree	All Techniques, All EPAKS Sets and Forms
	Demonstrate a working understanding of:
	Master Keys
	Linking
	Family Groupings
	Train 108 days in a row
	Document (record) and perform the entire system for archiving

Note: To receive an AIK black belt you must participate in the black belt testing weekend.

Though we do our best to maintain a high level of proficiency in our black belts each person must wear their belt and accept the responsibility of that rank. Please compare yourself to your own potential and settle for nothing other than your personal best.

Black Belt Testing Application

To be eligible to test for Black Belt students must submit a completed Black Belt Test Application. Please be aware of payment and test registration deadlines. See your instructor for additional information.
